Since our last update, a number of states across the United States have implemented new numerous orders restricting the operations of “nonessential” businesses in an effort to curb the spread of COVID-19 (the Essential Business Orders). These include Alaska, Arizona, Kansas, Montana, North Carolina, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Utah and Virginia. Please check our trackers for more information:

About Our Essential Business Order Tracker

Given the disparate approaches across various jurisdictions, businesses are being forced to navigate a patchwork of directives impacting whether they are considered “essential”—and therefore may continue in-person operations—or not. To help our clients better navigate these varying directives, we have compiled two Essential Business Orders trackers providing key information on the Orders issued by states and large urban areas. These trackers are being updated regularly as new Orders are issued.

Conscious of the human, operational and financial strain that coronavirus is placing on businesses and organizations worldwide, Jenner & Block has assembled a multi-disciplinary Task Force to support clients as they navigate the legal and strategic challenges of the COVID-19 / Coronavirus situation.
