The Alpha Board Forum brings together board directors, C-suite executives, AI leaders, and policymakers for a half-day of substantive dialogue on the evolving AI regulatory landscape, fiduciary obligations in the age of AI, enterprise adoption strategies, and compliance readiness ahead of upcoming enforcement deadlines.

With the EU AI Act's August 2026 enforcement deadline approaching, ongoing federal preemption debates, and a growing patchwork of state-level AI laws, boards can no longer afford a wait-and-see approach. The program will explore where fiduciary duty meets AI oversight, how boards should structure accountability across existing committees, what compliance readiness looks like before enforcement begins, and why directors need to stay ahead of AI law and policy developments. Sessions include perspectives on the evolving regulatory landscape, enterprise adoption strategies that pair speed with governance, and practitioner-led roundtables where directors share what's working in their boardrooms.
