

Special Counsel Kimberly Cook Featured in FCBA Member Spotlight

Publications

August 13, 2026

The Federal Communications Bar Association (FCBA) featured Kimberly Cook in its Member Spotlight series, where she discussed her transition from the FCC—where she worked on foreign ownership review, national security, and enforcement matters—to Jenner & Block's Communications, Internet, and Technology practice. In the profile, Kim shares insights on navigating a communications law career and the value of mentorship and professional community throughout her two decades in the field.

Kim advises clients on complex regulatory, enforcement, and national security matters, drawing on senior leadership roles in the FCC's Enforcement and International Bureaus. In those positions, she conducted foreign ownership reviews of initial authorizations, spectrum auction winners, assignments, and transfers of control for common carrier licenses, and coordinated extensively with Team Telecom and other agencies on national security, law enforcement, and trade policy matters.
