Overview

Andrew Devedjian is a member of Jenner & Block's Litigation Practice.

Prior to joining Jenner, Andrew externed for Magistrate Judge Keri Holleb Hotaling in the US District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, where he researched Social Security income appeals and observed federal litigation and settlement conferences. He also worked as a law clerk in the pro bono human rights program of a boutique firm. As a summer associate at Jenner, Andrew drafted legal memoranda and briefs, and worked on pro bono matters involving civil rights, asylum, and other public interest issues.

A graduate of Northwestern Pritzker School of Law, Andrew served as president of the Moot Court Team and was a staff member of the Northwestern Journal of Law and Social Policy. Before law school, he taught fifth-grade math and science through Teach for America.
