

Partner Meghan Greenfield to Speak on Supreme Court Climate Case at Edison Electric Institute's Fall Legal Conference

Event

October 7, 2026

Speakers: Meghan Greenfield

On Wednesday, October 7, Partner Meghan Greenfield will speak on a panel titled "Boulder County v. Suncor Energy: What the Supreme Court's Climate Case Means for the Energy Industry" at the Edison Electric Institute's Fall Legal Conference in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Register Here

The panel will examine the US Supreme Court's review of Board of County Commissioners of Boulder County v. Suncor Energy, a case addressing the viability of state tort claims alleging climate harms. The discussion will address what is at stake in the case and its potential impact on litigation going forward.

Meghan is a strategic environmental litigator and regulatory counselor who previously served at the Environmental Protection Agency, and at the US Department of Justice. She advises energy companies and other clients on complex environmental litigation and regulatory matters.

Related Lawyers

Meghan Greenfield

Partner
mgreenfield@jenner.com
+1 202 637 6393

Related Capabilities

Energy

Related Locations

Washington, DC

Stay Informed

