

Grace Signorelli-Cassady Speaks on AI and Economic Growth in Indian Country

Event

September 26, 2025

Speakers: Grace C. Signorelli-Cassady

Associate Grace Signorelli-Cassady spoke at Wiring the Rez: Artificial Intelligence in Indian Country, held at the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law at Arizona State University and hosted by the Center for Tribal Digital Sovereignty, the Indian Legal Program, and the American Indian Policy Institute. The event focused on the implications of artificial intelligence for Tribal nations, and Grace's session covered how artificial intelligence can strengthen tribes' negotiating position and economic strategy in complex transactions.

As a member of the firm's Native American Law Practice, Grace draws on her litigation and investigations experience, along with her background as a former federal law clerk, to guide tribal clients through complex, high-stakes matters, including matters involving sovereign immunity, mineral and lease disputes, rights-of-way negotiations, gaming, environmental and natural resources issues, treaty rights, and matters at the intersection of cutting-edge technologies.
