JENNER & BLOCK

Special Counsel David Manners-Weber's Analysis Cited in The New York Times on Supreme Court Limits to Congressional Oversight

Publications

November 13, 2026

Special Counsel David Manners-Weber was recently cited in a New York Times article examining how recent Supreme Court rulings may hinder the investigations lawmakers are expected to pursue when the new Congress convenes in January.

Read More

The article pointed to David's Lawfare analysis, published ahead of the midterm elections, in which David argued that the Supreme Court's 2024 decision in Trump v. United States "has quietly weakened Congress's ability to conduct legislative oversight over the executive branch."

A member of the firm's Congressional Investigations and Government Controversies and Public Policy Litigation Practices, David helps clients navigate legal challenges at moments of intense scrutiny. He most recently served as Senior Associate White House Counsel, representing the President and the White House in high-profile government investigations and oversight matters and acting as the White House's primary oversight liaison to more than a dozen departments and agencies.

Related Lawyers

David Manners-Weber
Special Counsel
dmannersweber@jenner.com
+1 202 639 3877

Related Capabilities

Congressional Investigations

Government Controversies and Public Policy Litigation

Related Locations

Washington, DC

© 2026 Jenner & Block LLP. Attorney Advertising. Jenner & Block LLP is an Illinois Limited Liability Partnership including professional corporations. This publication, presentation, or event is not intended to provide legal advice but to provide information on legal matters and/or firm news of interest to our clients and colleagues. Readers or attendees should seek specific legal advice before taking any action with respect to matters mentioned in this publication or at this event. The attorney responsible for this communication is Brent E. Kidwell, Jenner & Block LLP, 353 N. Clark Street, Chicago, IL 60654-3456. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. Jenner & Block London LLP, an affiliate of Jenner & Block LLP, is a limited liability partnership established under the laws of the State of Delaware, USA and is authorised and regulated by the Solicitors Regulation Authority with SRA number 615729. Information regarding the data we collect and the rights you have over your data can be found in our Privacy Notice. For further inquiries, please contact dataprotection@jenner.com.

Stay Informed →