Overview

Colleen Reddan counsels clients on e-discovery strategy and best practices, while drawing on extensive experience in developing practical and cost-efficient solutions to discovery obligations in a variety of contexts. She advises on all stages of the discovery lifecycle, including document collection, processing, and production. Colleen regularly leads lawyer review teams to respond to document requests and subpoenas, to gather facts in internal investigations, and to harness volumes of data in preparation for depositions and trial.

In addition to working on complex litigation matters, Colleen has also been a part of several firm teams carrying out monitorship appointments to ensure compliance with consumer protection settlements. Colleen also analyzes the requirements of, and prepares filings required by, the Hart-Scott-Rodino (HSR) Antitrust Improvement Act.
