Overview

As the pro bono partnership lawyer in the firm's Pro Bono Department, Ms. Smith coordinates and manages the pro bono client partnership program that has grown and become tremendously popular with the firm's clients. Pro bono partnerships help to highlight the true alignment of values and service between our clients and the firm to the benefit of those that who are in need of access to justice. Previously, Ms. Smith was a work equity lawyer in the Talent and Development Department, where she ensured that work was equitably staffed among junior associates and that they were helped in gaining opportunities to develop their skill sets.

Prior to joining Jenner & Block, Ms. Smith worked as a general practice lawyer, successfully arguing motions in Cook County for matters in domestic relations and successfully negotiated claims in personal injury matters.

Ms. Smith has worked on numerous electronic discovery projects ranging from patent infringements, international business transactions, as well as internal investigations as a staff attorney in the firm's Litigation Department.
