

"Paparazzi Law Limits Our First Amendment Rights," Los Angeles Daily Journal

Publications

December 24, 2013

In this installment of the “Content Matters” column, Jenner & Block Partner Andrew J. “A.J.” Thomas and Associate Nary Kim explore the California Legislature’s “love-hate” relationship with the First Amendment’s freedom of the press protection, especially when that protection conflicts with celebrities’ desires for privacy. In particular, the authors examine Senate Bill 606, the so-called “Halle Berry Law,” which passed in September 2013 and modifies the existing definition of criminal harassment.

Related Attorneys

Andrew J. Thomas

Partner

ajthomas@jenner.com

+1 213 239 5155

Related Capabilities

Content, Media, and Entertainment

Related Locations

Los Angeles

© 2026 Jenner & Block LLP. Attorney Advertising. Jenner & Block LLP is an Illinois Limited Liability Partnership including professional corporations. This publication, presentation, or event is not intended to provide legal advice but to provide information on legal matters and/or firm news of interest to our clients and colleagues. Readers or attendees should seek specific legal advice before taking any action with respect to matters mentioned in this publication or at this event. The attorney responsible for this communication is Brent E. Kidwell, Jenner & Block LLP, 353 N. Clark Street, Chicago, IL 60654-3456. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. Jenner & Block London LLP, an affiliate of Jenner & Block LLP, is a limited liability partnership established under the laws of the State of Delaware, USA and is authorised and regulated by the Solicitors Regulation Authority with SRA number 615729. Information regarding the data we collect and the rights you have over your data can be found in our Privacy Notice. For further inquiries, please contact dataprotection@jenner.com.

Stay Informed

