Cutting-edge clients doing business in California and beyond seek out Jenner & Block's San Francisco office for their most complex legal needs. Located in the heart of the city, we represent companies from a variety of industries, including some of the world's biggest technology companies, in litigation, investigations, transactions, crisis management, and regulatory matters.

Clients regard us as a "go-to" group of seasoned trial lawyers with best-in-class litigation skills and experience in handling high-stakes litigation for major corporate clients. Operating at the intersection of law, business, and policy, we are equally at our best providing proactive and crisis counsel to companies and large organizations navigating complex matters that require a mix of litigation, regulatory, public policy, legislative, and communications skill. We represent individuals and corporations in complex internal investigations, as well as criminal prosecutions, acting as fearless champions of our clients' interest, minimizing exposure, and providing a clear path forward.

Our San Francisco office includes a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers and former assistant US attorney; the former Chief of Staff to the Governor of California, Gavin Newsom; a former Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the US Department of Justice's Civil Division; and a deep bench of talented attorneys who are preeminent in their fields.
