June 16, 2021

In this article for Law360, Partner Matthew Haws and Associate Umer Chaudhry provide a detailed look at the General Service Administration’s new System for Award Management portal, SAM.gov. The portal is designed to be the single point of entry for contractors accessing federal government procurement information, replacing numerous legacy databases and public-facing portals. The authors offer advice and insights for government contractors on what to know before using the portal, improvements and pitfalls within the continuing development of the site, and how to make the most of the new SAM.gov.
