

Partner Rebekah Goodheart Honored as a Law360 MVP

Recognition

October 6, 2021

Jenner & Block Partner Rebekah P. Goodheart is recognized as an MVP in the telecommunications category. In its profile, Law360 highlights her pro bono representation of civil rights groups in a successful push for federal rate caps on prison and jail phone calls. The profile also features her long-standing role working to expand broadband access starting with the development of the FCC's National Broadband Plan, to FCC universal service reform including the FCC's auction of support in the Rural Digital Opportunity Fund and recent Congressional infrastructure funding. The profile notes that Ms. Goodheart was promoted earlier this year to co-chair of the firm's Communications, Internet, and Technology Practice. Asked why she's a telecoms lawyer, she said, "The limits of technology are constantly changing. And I love being part of all of that seeing how it's changing and helping clients figure out how to introduce new technologies."
