

Government Contracts Group of The Year: Jenner & Block, Law360

Recognition

February 3, 2022

Law360 named Jenner & Block among its Government Contracts and Grants Practice Groups of the Year for their role in several of the most significant matters of 2021. Co-Chair David B. Robbins discusses the groups strengths in a profile accompanying the recognition.

"This is a litigation-strong firm," he said. "We can reach out and touch a former solicitor general of the United States to help us if we need to." Mr. Robbins also discussed the group's collaboration with colleagues in the Investigations, Compliance, and Defense Practice.

The profile also highlights a significant victory for a medical supply company that resulted in a quadrupled federal contract. "The competition used every protest lever available, but we successfully defended Medical Place's contracts on all fronts," said Partner Noah B. Bleicher, a former attorney with the US Government Accountability Office who co-led Medical Place's representation with Special Counsel Carla J. Weiss.

Co-Chaired by Mr. Robbins and Marc A. Van Allen, Jenner & Block's Government Contracts and Grants Practice represents biggest defense contractors, small businesses, and start-ups, and draws on a wealth of industry and litigation experience to help clients successfully avoid or resolve contract disputes with the US government. Our lawyers understand the intricacies and practicalities of doing business with the government, as well as the real-world challenges clients face when those contracts break down or the government investigates them.
