

“That Federal Contractor Vaccine Mandate Is Starting to Look Like a Shredded Battle Flag,” Federal News Network

Event

December 17, 2021

Jenner & Block Partner Matthew Haws joined the Federal News Network’s Federal Drive radio program (podcast version here) for a discussion about the Biden administration’s vaccine mandate for federal contractors. During the episode, Mr. Haws walked listeners through the evolution of the mandate and recent developments in the courts. He also addressed the question top of mind for government contractors: “What should we do now?” Mr. Haws is a partner in the Government Contracts and Grants Practice. He represents clients ranging from defense manufacturers to IT systems integrators on government contract claims, compliance, and investigations.
