

“25 Years with Open Accesses and Order 888 - Where Are We Now, Who's Watching, and What Is Needed Next?” Energy Bar Association 2022 Annual Meeting and Conference

Event

May 6, 2022

Jenner & Block Partner Suede G. Kelly will moderate a discussion about Order 888, the landmark transmission open access reform instituted by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission 25 years ago, at the Energy Bar Association’s annual meeting on May 10. The panel will explore topics such as the advancements that non-Regional Transmission Organization providers have made to accommodate new resource technologies and whether the current Open Access Transmission Tariff is sufficient to provide non-discriminatory transmission services by public utilities relating to these new and emerging resources. The program starts at 2 pm ET. To learn more and register, please click here. Ms. Kelly is a former commissioner with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. She represents clients in the electric and natural gas industries on business, regulatory, litigation, enforcement, and policy matters.
