

Partner Martin Glass Discusses Decline in IPOs with Financial Times

News

June 8, 2022

Jenner & Block Partner Martin C. Glass was quoted on June 5 in a front-page Financial Times article on the value of initial public offerings (IPOs) in the US and Europe falling 90% in 2022 as the Ukraine war and rising inflation and interest rates caused businesses to hold plans to go public. Mr. Glass addressed the confluence of factors that affected companies preparing to go public and the likelihood of a return of activity once the market stabilizes. “Once things stabilise, we will see a return of activity, even if it does not reach last year’s levels. People are not abandoning ship — they are pausing,” he said.
