

Protection of Tribal Sovereignty and Self-Determination Before the US Supreme Court, Federal Bar Association Indian Law Conference

Event

April 17, 2023

On April 17, Senior Associate Lenny Powell will join the Federal Bar Association for a panel discussion on Supreme Court advocacy. The CLE program will discuss the critical role Supreme Court cases play in the continued existence of Tribes as distinct political and cultural sovereigns. Learn more about the program. Lenny has played a key role as part of the Jenner & Block team working on the most critical Native American Law matters of his generation, including the landmark victory in McGirt, representing tribes in the defense of the Indian Child Welfare Act, and successfully defending the Yakama Nation's 1855 treaty, all in front of the US Supreme Court.
