

“The SEC Strikes Again,” The Wall Street Blockchain Alliance

Event

July 26, 2022

Jenner & Block Partner Kayvan B. Sadeghi will speak on a panel about the US Securities and Exchange Commission’s recent enforcement action against a former Coinbase employee and two associates. The SEC alleged for the first time that tokens involved in an alleged insider trading scheme were securities. Mr. Sadeghi will discuss the implications of the SEC’s latest actions, the reasons behind them, and their potential impact to the crypto world.

The webinar, hosted by the Wall Street Blockchain Alliance, will be held on July 27, 2022, from 1-2 pm ET.

Mr. Sadeghi is a partner in Jenner & Block’s Securities Litigation and Enforcement Practice and a leader in the Blockchain and Digital Assets Industry Group. He serves as lead counsel in complex commercial and securities litigation proceedings and defends clients before the DOJ, SEC, state attorneys general, and other government agencies.
