For the second consecutive year, The American Lawyer ranked Jenner & Block as number one for international pro bono service on its Pro Bono Scorecard. The firm ranked third for pro bono work in the United States.

Lawyers from the firm's London office dedicated 115.2 pro bono hours on average in 2022, and 120% of the office worked 20 hours or more on pro bono matters, up from 109.5% the previous year. The firm's US-based lawyers completed an average of 150.1 pro bono hours in 2022, with 105.8% of lawyers completing more than 20 pro bono hours.

Jenner & Block's commitment to exceeding the market standard of 20 pro bono hours per-lawyer earned it the number-two spot on the publication's Breadth of Pro Bono Commitment list for the second year in a row. In 2022, almost 90% of our lawyers completed at least 50 hours of pro bono work.

"The need is just so great now," said Partner Debbie Berman, a Co-Chair of the firm's Pro Bono Committee, when discussing the firm's pro bono commitment with the publication. "Overall hours likely improved in 2022, because of more lawyers doing the work."
