

Domestic Violence Shelter Granted Charitable Property Tax Exemption

News

November 1, 2023

Seven years after helping WINGS Program, Inc., purchase land and develop a facility for a shelter for domestic violence survivors in the South Side of Chicago – the first to open in the city in more than a decade at the time – and after the failure of others to secure exemption from property tax, Jenner & Block secured a charitable property tax exemption for the Shelter’s real property with retroactive application.

WINGS is a longtime client that provides housing, integrated services, education, and advocacy to end domestic violence.

With the tax exemption rightfully in place for the operation of an exclusively charitable facility, WINGS is able to provide more support for domestic violence survivors and their families.

Partner Gail Morse secured the exemption.
