As a fellow of the prestigious American College of Trial Lawyers, Reid Schar helps clients across a wide range of industries navigate complex issues at the intersection of investigations, litigation, regulation, and public perception. His experience as a former Assistant US Attorney and in high-visibility situations like the Chicago Blackhawks sexual assault investigation, the General Motors ignition switch recall investigation, and the New Jersey "Bridgegate" investigation has made him a trusted strategist for businesses and individuals of every size, in every industry. Reid handles multibillion-dollar, multidistrict cases and class actions, and regularly represents clients before the DOJ, the SEC, state attorneys general, and multiple other regulatory bodies.

David Greenwald represents clients facing complex, high-value disputes and corporate crises. David has tried cases in federal and state courts, arbitrated cases in the United States and Europe, and conducted investigations on three continents. David's practice includes disputes and investigations in the defense and aerospace sectors, as well as insurance, reinsurance and insurance-linked securities disputes. A recognized thought leader, David is a prolific writer and speaker regarding attorney-client privilege, work product protection and related ethical issues.

Recognized as one of the most influential trial and arbitration lawyers in the United States, Terri Mascherin offers businesses, law firms, lawyers, and higher education institutions a full array of litigation tools to confront high-stakes challenges in court. She is a fellow and member of the Board of Regents of the American College of Trial Lawyers and host of its acclaimed podcast Trial Tested.
