

Jenner & Block Expands Employee Benefits and Executive Compensation Practice with Addition of Special Counsel Jenna Bressel

News

March 10, 2025

Jenner & Block is pleased to announce that Jenna Bressel has returned to the firm as Special Counsel in the Chicago office. Jenna brings significant experience in employee benefits and executive compensation law.

"We are thrilled to welcome Jenna back to our team," said Matt Renaud, Chair of the Employee Benefits and Executive Compensation Practice. "Her extensive knowledge of complex benefits and compensation matters will be invaluable to our clients navigating the challenging business and evolving regulatory landscape."

Jenna advises public and private employers on a wide range of benefits and compensation matters, including healthcare reform and the design, implementation, and administration of employee benefit plans and programs. She has extensive experience in equity and incentive compensation arrangements and Section 409A compliance.

Her experience includes guiding clients through the benefit claims and appeals process for welfare and retirement benefits. Additionally, she handles the employee benefits and executive compensation aspects of corporate transactions, advising on issues such as the assumption and integration of employee benefit plans, including multiemployer and defined benefit pension plan obligations.

"I am thrilled to return to Jenner & Block. The firm's culture of excellence and commitment to client service is something that I have always admired," said Jenna. "I look forward to rejoining this talented team and leveraging my experience to help our clients navigate complex benefits and compensation challenges."

Jenna received her JD from Chicago-Kent College of Law.
