

Jenner & Block's Energy Practice Hosts Second Annual Energy Conference

Event

April 30, 2025

Jenner & Block's Energy Practice hosted its Second Annual Jenner Energy Conference in Washington, DC on April 30. Partner John Estes organized the event, with broad participation from the energy practice team.

Building on last year's conference, this year's event featured sessions covering the evolution of Regional Transmission Organizations (RTOs), regulatory changes that may impact the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), and emerging power demand and financing challenges impacting the industry.

Jenner & Block's Energy Practice is known for the creative and collaborative thinking it brings to cutting-edge issues in which the law is still developing, as well as its experience handling a broad cross-section of matters impacting the industry.
